Ronnie Lee Milsap was born January 16, 1943 in Robbinsville, North Carolina. A congenital disorder left him almost completely blind. Abandoned by his mother as an infant, he was raised by his grandparents in the Smoky Mountains until the age of five, when he was sent to the Governor Morehead School for the Blind in Raleigh, North Carolina. During his childhood he lost his remaining vision, and both his eyes were eventually removed. Throughout his childhood, he was interested in music—particularly the late-night broadcasts of country music, gospel music, and rhythm and blues. In concert, he has often paid tribute to the artists who have inspired him the most including Ray Charles, Little Richard, Jerry Lee Lewis, and Elvis Presley. Ronnie Milsap became one of country music's most popular and influential performers of the 1970s and 1980s, appealing to both country and pop music markets with hit songs that incorporated pop, R&B, and rock and roll elements. He is credited with six Grammy Awards and 40 #1 country hits. Milsap has remained as one of country music's most popular concert performers and continues to tour regularly for his many fans across the country. On May 2, 2013, Milsap performed at the funeral service of country legend George Jones, singing the Jones classic "When the Grass Grows Over Me".
